

11. Carol MACAULAY (Scotland – UK)

Before, I wasn't very good at work. And this helps to me progress in my work and also helps me do things for other people - help them with reading and writing and other things.

It made me better equipped to do my work and other things - write letters to people which I needed to do. Also to help other people in our own groups and outside in society.

I feel I have learned a lot from other people and it's improved my confidence in speaking out to people and to say things on behalf of others in my community and other countries as well. I can do that now. I just want to help because we've done it in Scotland and I enjoy doing that.

I hope all the countries can do something together, to get things going better in Europe... And also we can do more in our own countries by trying to get funding, to keep this sort of thing going and to let more people know about the things that are going on in countries. And also, so we can have a network between all countries to keep things going on in that way.